PRESIDENT'S REPORT KENILWORTH

JULY 2021

This was a different rally. News reports said that the COVID 19 virus had been in Kenilworth Township. That, was a good reason to miss this rally.

Twenty four QCC caravans attended the Kenilworth Showgrounds. In the interests of safety, the entertainment programme was abandoned. Those who attended the small rally were cautious and in the end they enjoyed a laid-back, relaxing and cheerful rally.

Bill and Denise Waycott were thrilled to receive their 150 rally badges. Bill and Denise have been members for 17 years.

As day visitors, Noel and Olive Jones arrived in style in their fully restored 1971 ZD Ford Fairlane previously the family car owned from new by Noel's mother.

The State Rally is on in September. If you have not already booked, and you want to go, then you should book now.

Travel safely and I will see you in Gin Gin starting Wednesday 11th August.

Shane Jones

Please note :- Due to the number of activities being cancelled at the Kenilworth Rally, this Wanderer will have all cancelled activities re- advertised again which will be held at the GIN GIN rally.

ABOUT GIN GIN

Gin Gin— a rural town on the Bruce Highway, is 40 km south-west of Bundaberg.

In 1848 Gregory Blaxland and his son-in-law, William Forster took up the Tirroan pastoral run in the future district of Gin Gin. (Blaxland was one of the three explorers who crossed the Blue Mountains and Forster was a future premier of New South Wales.) Tirroan was sold in a few years and renamed Gingin, perhaps after Gin Gin in Western Australia or as a derivation of an Aboriginal expression thought to describe thick scrub. Gingin was later owned by Thomas McIlwraith, Premier of Queensland, who replaced sheep with cattle.

The area was apparently known as Gin Gin, as the colonial government gave that name to a telegraph office on its railway line between Bundaberg and Gladstone in 1874.

The Kolan local-government division (1879) chose Gin Gin as its administrative centre. At about that time copper mining began further west at New Moonta, and Mount Perry emerged as an important mining centre. A railway line from Bundaberg to Mount Perry was built during 1881-84, passing through Gin Gin in 1881.

A primary school was opened in 1882, a school in 1883, and a Catholic church and a handsome Oddfellows Lodge hall were opened in 1889. Apart from beef-cattle grazing, there was considerable maize growing, timber milling and sugar-cane cultivation. Maize and timber were transported in large quantities by railway, but cane was crushed at a government central mill (1896). The mill came under co-operative ownership in 1927.

Between 1901 and 1911 Gin Gin's population more than tripled, and it was described in 1903 in the Australian handbook:

By 1904 there was sufficient diversity in Gin Gin's economy for the formation of an agricultural, pastoral and industries society.

A hospital was opened in 1915, superseding a nursing and maternity facility. The town's interwar population was a decline on its 1911 figure, but postwar prosperity enabled the connection of reticulated electricity (1952) and a town sewerage scheme (1967). A high school was opened in 1973.

Gin Gin has the former Kolan Shire offices, a heritage-listed railway station terminus (since the 1960s), a hospital, bowling, golf and swimming facilities, state primary and high schools (1881, 1972), three motels, local shops and an abattoir. There are also a visitor information centre and a historical society museum.

Hotch Potch Dinner is on again—Re-advertised

What is a Hotch Potch dinner. It is a Scottish tradition when a group of friend bring a meal of Soups or Scottish Stews to the table. Interesting it is not considered a success if it's all eaten and none is taken away, conversely if some is taken away its considered a success . I am not sure if that means that firstly not enough was provided or if there was to much they didn't like it??

It is not mandatory to bring Scottish Stews or soups, bring whatever you would like to the table.

For the club Hotch Potch it is suggested that Richard puts together tables of 8, each couple brings enough food to feed 4 people. Yes there will be no doubt some left over. The interesting part of the meal is that nobody knows what is being brought to the table. Some members have indicated concern, what if everybody brings the same meal. To me that indicate that everybody at the table has the same tastes, so they should have a great meal eating what they enjoy most. Just my thought.

Seeing the theme was Christmas in July perhaps just a few decorations might be nice for the tables.
No need to go overboard just a few.

Barry & Wendy Gibson are co-ordinators for the Disc Bowls competition on Sunday, 19 September, at the CCQ State Rally at Pittsworth.

Without your help we cannot run this competition successfully. Depending on how many nominations we receive, we may have up to 12 rinks. So we need at least 12 Markers for each game, plus many more so that Markers can also play in the competition.

Please contact us by email on – gibsonwa1@bigpond.com.

Your help will be much appreciated.

Places to visit in Queensland—Agnes Waters & Seventeen Seventy

Located half way between Bundaberg and Gladstone 50 kilometres or so off the Bruce Highway, the settlements – which sit virtually next to each other – tick pretty much all the boxes ... beaches, beauty, history, fishing, great tours, shops, cafes and, last but not least, a very warm welcome.

It was in 1770, that Lieutenant James Cook anchored the Endeavour about three kilometres off the coast before coming ashore here with botanist Joseph Banks and his assistant Daniel Solander.

It was only the second time during the voyage that Cook had set foot on Australian soil, and the first he had done so in what is now called Queensland. While Covid-19 put paid to this year's festivities, the 1770 Festival is normally held here every May and includes a foreshore re-enactment of Cook's arrival, followed by two full days of tourist-friendly entertainment.

Of course, there are plenty of year-round reminders of the area's historical significance including a well signposted obelisk known as Cook's Monument which bears the inscription: "Under the lee of this point Lieutenant James Cook RN, landed on 24th May 1770."

The small but fascinating Agnes Water Museum is the obvious place for visitors to get to grips with the area's past and it boasts copies of journals, logs, and charts, as well as indigenous artefacts, fossils, and local coral and shells.

Back in today's world, this is very much a tourist-friendly destination with supermarkets, cafes, restaurants and plenty of accommodation and camping options, including the excellent The Reef Caravan Park. However, it is nature that is the star attraction ... and there are some great walks on offer to give visitors a great insight into just how beautiful this area really is.

At the end of the peninsula is Round Hill Headland where there are walks to Bustard Bay Lookout and Wave Lookout offering excellent views across the bay and out into the Coral Sea. The main beach boasts five kilometres of golden sand and there are several other smaller more secluded beaches near the townships.

The area is surrounded by Deepwater National Park and Eurimbula National Park, both of which boasts rainforests, swamplands, secluded beaches and plenty of native animals and birdlife. Also worth a visit is the Joseph Banks Regional Park, an attractive section of coastline which separates the Town of 1770 from Agnes Water.

The Town of 1770 is also a departure point for reef cruises and fishing charters to the outer Great Barrier Reef, and there are wide range of other tours and expeditions available to allow visitors to maximise their enjoyment of this amazing part of this world. These include scenic flights, kayaking trips and LARC! environmental eco-tours which take visitors on a variety of trips aboard eye-catching pink amphibious vessels.

A lot has changed then in the 250-plus years since Captain Cook first brought a rather more conservative-looking small boat ashore here, but the area remains as stunningly beautiful as ever and will inevitably feature very high on any caravaners Big Lap highlights list.

Photographs of members and family may appear in publications and on social media, eg., the Club newsletter, website, Facebook, or other Club-sponsored publications. If a member does not wish for this to occur, the member should inform the Secretary in writing as well as advising the person taking the photograph. Whilst all care will be taken to comply with this request, no guarantee can be given that this will not occur.
