VICE PRESIDENT'S REPORT

With President Steve enjoying the warmer climate of the northern part of the NT I have found myself having to step up in my role as Vice President of this great club.

Firstly, can I impress upon you the importance of reading all notifications regarding rallies either here in the "Wanderer" or in emails to you from our club secretary along with any attachments with regards club activities and at rallies. Please check the white notice boards for updates and changes that may affect you.

Our June, Goombungee rally saw the heat of the past summer finally give way to cold nights, foggy mornings and warm, provided you got out of the way of the lazy breeze, clear days. Thursday morning we rose to the first frost of the winter and -2.6°C under the Park's awning. Beanies and gloves were certainly the order of the day, but occupants of the 48 vans duly emerged to enjoy, yet again, a great rally.

With most vans settled into the showgrounds by midday Thursday, the regular activities commenced. Having secured the use of the Goombungee Show Society's new air-conditioned (read heated) Committee room, Bev Green once more guided her pupils to producing yet another individually creative card.

Friday morning saw the golfer's head out early for a round of golf, not being made any easier by the layer of fog or by balls mysteriously rolling behind trees! Meanwhile, back at the showgrounds, Fay Bell guided her sewers to complete another 'block' of their quilt. It is anticipated that the ladies will complete this project by the end of the year and display them to us all then.

Friday morning also saw the delivery of the much anticipated freshly baked scones made by the ladies of the Goombungee CWA. Over the next couple of days and at the Friday afternoon tea these were consumed with copious amounts of jam and cream. Goombungee certainly has some excellent bakers. The local café offering a large selection of home baked cheesecakes which tempted many of us to risk a few extra calories before our 'Wellbeing weigh-ins' with Di Hogan who once more held the fort in the absence of Minnie Holt and Robyn Burdett.

The Club's committee took advantage of the heated venue for its monthly meeting before it made way for Yvonne's Sewing Group who were under my direction as Yvonne is sadly still not back at rallies. This month nine ladies tried their hands at making artistic fabric bowls.

Thursday and Friday nights saw the dedicated card players taking advantage of the heated G.S.S. committee room. Many were so warm in there that they could even shed a few layers of their winter woollies for the duration.

Saturday morning's forum proved a little challenging for those who failed to read the white boards for updates and failed to hear Ray's ringing of the bell to call us together, or maybe they just didn't want to face the cold, so missed the start as we had moved the meeting 30 minutes earlier so that after the forum the members could visit and support the towns markets. Third timers, Nicky Deluca and Rob Forster were inducted as full members of the Club and first time visitors, Roger and Donna Wilson were introduced.

Saturday afternoon we gathered in the warm sunshine to compete in the Club's Disc Bowls Pairs Competition which was once more organised by Barry and Wendy Gibson. With 8 rinks in play the competition was both intense and enjoyable coming down to a final played out between Ray Caddies and John Ross, and, Ray MacDonald and Greg Mander, with the former pair being victorious.

Socks & Jocks, oops, Socks and Gloves was the order of the evening with teams organised (coerced) by Gail Caddies enjoying the hilarity of attempting to put on undersized gloves and then socks upon socks on to feet of the team captains. A simple game that was a whole lot of fun and enjoyed by all.

Sadly, our Saturday and Sunday forums were missing the much loved faces of Carmel Abraham, selling raffle tickets and Pam MacDonald in her role as Sunshine lady. We wish both ladies a speedy recovery from their respective illnesses and a quick return to future rallies. A big thank you to Laurel Adams, Denise Park, Desley Hinson and Heather Edney for filling in in their absences.

With forty vans headed to Rockhampton, including President Steve and wife, Robyn, for the 2024 State Caravan Rally I bid you safe travels and remember our Club motto of Fellowship on Wheels. I look forward to seeing you there.

KING'S BIRTHDAY HONOURS FOR MORETON BAY QUARTET

Moreton Daily Published 10:05pm 9 June 2024 Words by Jodie Powell

The community spirit of four Moreton Bay residents has been recognised in the 2024 King's Birthday Honours list. The recipients include a family history buff, a women's affairs advocate and a Royal Australian Air Force veteran.

LANCE HASLEWOOD, OAM

Lance Haslewood has flown with Prince Charles, Princess Diana, Prince William, Prince Phillip, the Queen, Malcolm Fraser and Bob Hawke, but it's his commitment to keeping Royal Australian Air Force personnel connected that's earned him a Medal of the Order of Australia (OAM) in this year's King's Birthday Honours List.

The Delaneys Creek man joined the Australian Defence Force aged 15-and-a-half after finishing Year 10 at Caboolture State High School.

His career of almost 30 years took in roles as a helicopter crewman and C-130 and Boeing 707 loadmaster, ranging from search and rescue work to transporting equipment, personnel and dignitaries.

Lance says he was only "really" scared once during his time with the Royal Australian Air Force flying – during a surveying mission with 9 Squadron when the helicopter's engine failed on a test flight.

SERVING IN 9 SQUADRON

"It was in September 1976 and we were in Biak (Indonesia), an island off North-West Papua during Operation Cenderawasih, which was a joint Army and RAAF task to measure the height of the West Papua terrain as a defence co-operation mission for Indonesia," Lance says.

"This was done with the use of satellite communication, tracking and measuring equipment, operated by Australian Army survey personnel, which we placed on mountain tops.

"We were about to embark on a flight to Wassior, an hour and a half over water, but before we departed, we did a test flight to measure engine performance etc., and, at about 2000 feet, the engine failed and the fire warning system illuminated.

"Luckily, we were still over the airfield and autorotated safely back onto the ground – a plug blew out of the compressor stage of the engine resulting in an immediate loss of power.

"The release of the hot air from the engine set-off the fire warning system and we thought we were in big trouble."

Others in 9 Squadron were not so fortunate – on July 29, 1977, young pilot Ralph Taylor was killed and four others severely injured when their Bell UH-1H Iroquois flew into a cloud and crashed into dense jungle in Irian Jaya on the North-West Papua New Guinea border.

In 1978, 9 Squadron lost five more members in an accident in South Australia.

"It was a night flight," Lance says, "and the aircraft clipped the top of a hill.

"It disintegrated and exploded and all on board perished. Steve Milsted was the crewman and a good friend of mine."

KEEPING MATESHIP ALIVE

Lance has been working to preserve records of the service of RAAF personnel for almost 30 years after founding the RAAF Airman Aircrew Association – a mission which contributed to him being awarded his OAM.

He says the association is more than a means of recording the service of members – it also keeps their mateship alive and people in contact.

"Initially, former loadmaster Colin Tigwell (deceased) put together a list of names of airman aircrew as a medium by which former loadmasters and flight engineers could keep in contact, but Col had difficulty in maintaining it, primarily because the list was incorporated into an Army association website, and as such, it was difficult for Col to keep it up-to-date," Lance says.

"With Col's consent, I took it over, and around 2000 I wrote a dedicated website, albeit a rather basic one.

"This made such a difference for it allowed airman aircrew better access to contact information.

"About four years ago, I totally rewrote the site to a more upmarket one, which is the one now online."

A LABOUR OF LOVE

The site is a rich tapestry of honour rolls, profiles, a message board and contact details that's free for airman and aircrew and associates to use, funded entirely by Lance.

When a member dies, Lance endeavours to send their family a folder containing a letter of condolence, a card, a placard and the poem High Flight, written by World War II Canadian Air Force pilot John Gillespie Magee Jr, who was tragically killed aged 19 in a mid-air collision over the English countryside in 1941.

The Canadian Air Force adopted his work as its official poem.

The RAAF Airman Aircrew Association has a reunion every two years – the next one is in October in Mandurah, Western Australia.

Lance says it is being organised by Peter Luck, a former helicopter crewman and C-130 loadmaster who resides in WA.

After his tour as a helicopter crewman with 9 Squadron at Amberley, Lance completed a C-130E Hercules loadmaster course with the 37 Squadron at Richmond, NSW, and in 1981, completed a Boeing 707 loadmaster course with 33 Squadron also at Richmond – which led to meeting the Royal family.

BRUSH WITH FAME

Lance did two royal tours with 33 Squadron, the first in 1982 when he brought the Queen and Prince Phillip out for the Commonwealth Games in Brisbane. It was on this trip that he unintentionally met British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

"The Boeing was parked at a secure section of Heathrow which had its own secure VIP terminal, and parked alongside the RAAF Boeing was an RAF VC10, which I assumed that it was also on a VIP task," Lance recalls.

"In my haste to collect paperwork from the terminal, and as I rounded a corner in a corridor, I almost collided with Margaret Thatcher, who was coming the other way. We were literally face-to-face. "Oh, young man, you ought to be more careful'," she said," Lance laughs.

"But she was smiling, and that's the main thing. A lesson learnt – always take a peek before bolting around a corner."

SPECIAL MORNING TEA

Arriving in London in 1983 to transport Princess Diana and Prince William to Australia, he received a surprise invitation.

"We landed at Heathrow and the Group Captain from the RAAF Attaché in London met the aircraft and handed myself and the aircraft captain an envelope which contained an invitation to attend morning tea at Buckingham Palace - but I had other plans, and the Palace wasn't part of it - I had to cancel them," Lance says.

"I didn't even have a suit, so I had to go and buy one.

"We met Di and Charles and members of the Royal household who would also be on the flight and had a light morning tea with room temperature beer."

Each royal tour requires three flight crews comprising pilots, flight engineers, loadmasters, cabin staff and maintenance personnel – one each for the Australia to Singapore, Singapore to the Middle East and Middle East to London legs, and the same for the return journey.

"I was lucky to have the Middle East-London-Middle East legs on the two Royal Tours I did. We had two or three days on the ground and then we came back.

"Prince William was about 14 months old, so, prior to departing Richmond, we had purchased a Holden 'Safe and Sound' baby seat which the squadron's technical personnel modified to be secured into an airline seat for young William, but he wouldn't sit in it.

A NEW CHAPTER

Having a young family, Lance retired from flying in 1983 so that he could spend more time at home. He was commissioned, which added a new dimension and opportunities to his already challenging RAAF career.

He spent the next 13 years "flying" a desk, which he says he thoroughly enjoyed, but he missed the flying, the travel, flexibility and the unique mateship.

As well as his dedication to the RAAF Airman Aircrew Association, Lance has been a Justice of the Peace for more than 40 years and is a life member and president of the Caboolture Regional Car Club.

He's also a member of the Queensland Torana Car Club, NSW Torana Club, Sunshine Coast Torana Appreciation Social Club, and the Queensland Caravan Club and wrote and administers the websites for most of the clubs, as well as the OZ DeLorean website.

He has a 1976 SL/R 5000 Torana which he has owned for 48 years, and a 1982 DMC-12 DeLorean. Lance also holds a private pilot licence.
